Extra Credit Assignment

Due Date: March 10, 2025 at 2:00 PM

Overview

This extra credit assignment is worth 5 points/2.5% on your final exam. The goal is for you to create a personal website that can be used when applying for full-time/internship opportunities. You must use GitHub Pages to host the website. Please create a free GitHub account if you have not already done so.

Specifications

This assignment is open since you are created a personal website for yourself. The minimum requirements that must exist in the website in order to receive full credit is:

- A small paragraph about yourself

- At least one line of CSS. Note: you can just change the text color or text font and receive credit for this item

- A link to your resume, GitHub profile, and email

- The site must be hosted on github pages and have a URL that can be visited

Notes

- You can use my portfolio site hosted on GitHub Pages for inspiration: https://jalirani.github.io/students.

- You may even fork the repo of my personal site and change it to be your own (I'll let you find it on your own)

- The site must be hosted using GitHub pages, otherwise you will not receive credit.

- I will not provide any assistance or answer any questions on this extra credit assignment.

- When graded on Blackboard, it will show a 0/0 grade if completed which means your received credit for it. No grade will indicate that no credit was received.

- No late submissions will be accepted for any reason.

Submission

- Your GitHub Pages URL in the form of username.github.io
